NFDA Launches Web Site with New Look and Improved Features

(Chicago, IL) – The National Fastener Distributors Association (NFDA) launched its re-designed Web site today. The site, www.nfda-fasteners.org, is the most comprehensive source for fastener industry and NFDA member news, training, education, information, benefits and advocacy.

In addition to featuring a new design, the site has upgraded the navigation and structure of the site to improve usability and increase resources for NFDA members and fastener industry professionals.

Executive Vice President, John Hausoul, indicated his hopes for the new web site when he stated that he “would like it to become a place for people in the fastener industry to go to on a daily basis for news information, as well as to learn what is happening in our association. I believe that the new web site for NFDA, while a benefit in and of itself, is also going to be a springboard for many new value added benefits in the future such as the new career center.”

The new and improved NFDA Web site includes the following features:

- Industry News Feeds: Current news tailored to the fastener industry is continuously updated on the home page.
- Featured Member: Each month an NFDA member is profiled with an in-depth article including photos.
- Discussion Forums: Fastener industry professionals can connect with each other, allowing visitors to share best practices, learn from peers and network.
- Event Calendar: Important industry events can be downloaded directly to Outlook calendars.
- Distribution Career Center: Allows visitors to search for and post jobs in a user-friendly job board.
- Membership Directory: NFDA members can export the entire membership list with this unique only directory.

The site continues to be the resource NFDA members and industry professionals turn to for information about NFDA and the fastener industry. The site also includes information about joining NFDA, Spring Annual Meeting and Fall City Meeting details, education and training resources, discount programs and much more.
